India's Stand on N.P.T.

*148. SHRI S. K. T. RAMACHANDRAN : Will the PRIME MINISTER be pleased to state :

(a) whether India's consistent reluctance to sign the discriminatory Non-Proliferation Treaty is an obstacle to improve Indo-U.S. relations;

(b) if so, whether there would be more pressure on India to change her stand as France and Russia have changed their stance in regard to Non-Proliferation Treaty agreement; and

(c) what steps Government have taken to convince the power block about its stand ?

THE MINISTER OF STATE IN THE MINISTRY OF EXTERNAL AFFAIRS (SHRI EDUARDO FALEIRO) : (a) to (c) There are policy differences between India and the US in respect of the Non-Proliferation Treaty which are presently under discussion.

Former USSR was a depository state of the Non-Proliferation Treaty and Russia has now assumed this status as a successor state. France has also acceded to the Non-Proliferation Treaty by depositing its instruments of ratification on August 3, 1992. However, France's accession is as a nuclear weapon state as it had developed nuclear weapons before 1-1-67, the cut-off date specified in the Non-Proliferation Treaty.

The Government has called for developing a global non-proliferation regime through consensus. Bilateral dialogues with a number of countries are underway to discuss these issues and narrow the differences in perceptions with a view to evolving an international consensus.

THE MINISTER OF STATE IN THE MINISTRY OF PERSONNEL, PUBLIC GRIEVANCES AND PENSIONS (SHRIMATI MARGARET ALVA) : (a) and (b) As a policy, no association of employees based on caste, creed, religion etc. is recognised. In the light of this policy, SC/ST Government Employees Associations cannot be given recognition.

(c) and (d) Requests for recognition of such associations are to be examined by the Ministries/Departments concerned and are not being monitored centrally. In any case, in tune with Government policy, the question of recognising such Associations does not arise.
